Grow your improvement capacity by preparing experienced individuals who regularly use improvement as part of their job to become improvement coaches.

Learn how to support district and school teams in using improvement science to tackle specific problems of practice in their local context.

This professional learning is designed for teams that attended the six-day Differentiated Assistance session in 2017-18 or completed the Improvement Science in Practice course and also are working with a district over an extended period of time. Participants must be committed to attending all sessions, engaging in action-period learning, and completing homework assignments.
