In celebration of March as Arts Education Month, policymakers, state, regional and local arts education and parent leaders will come together in Sacramento to honor and support advocacy efforts so that we inspire more Heroes for Arts Education.

Join us for lunch, presentations, and round table discussions about how to promote arts education. Hot topics in education including the Local Control Funding Formula, Common Core State Standards, Title I, state legislation and more will be discussed with the lens of providing every child access to quality arts education.

Experience student artwork and performances, and leave this convening with the planning tools and advocacy strategies needed to strengthen your power as a super hero for arts education!
